Dear Mr. Weisberg:

I am enclosing copies of two letters. The first one is addressed to Ted Kennedy. It was written out of my frustration over the passage of time without any definite action being taken to expose the truth about the assassinations. By reading it you will be able to understand my feelings. At the end of the letter I asked for a response.

The response I received served only to add to my frustration. Could these words have come from a man who lost two brothers to assassins bullets? Can he really accept the findings of the Warren Commission?

As of now I am confused. This is why I am writing to you. Perhaps you can explain his letter to me. As a private citizen I realize that something has got to be done to expose the truth, but what can I do except sit back and hope?

Sincerely,

Glenn S. Huey

Dear Mr. Huey, in response to your letter of the 10th I owe you at least candor. In every respect you are unfair, to DMK and to me. That you are frustrated can be understood, better with the assumption that you have not read or have not understood what I have written and you have. Esp. Post Mortem. I can think of nothing Teddy can do other than he has done and survive, in either sense. You received one of several form letters his office uses. In none that I have seen has he foreclosed any new investigation. In yours he says less than he has in public, that if there is the basis there should be a new investigation, In your letter he comes close, saying it should be determined by others and "not influenced by any feelings or discomfort by any member of my family." What else can one reasonably expect of him? Especially when he and his staff are constantly bludgeoned by the unthinking who are frustrated and thus ask and expect the impossible of him....There is another side of which I wish you could be aware. Letters like yours are burdensome for me and express in other ways. If I write you honestly you (pl) won't like it because you have preconceptions and if I don't respond I'm a different kind of bum. None of you ever thinks that each letter I write is written at the cost of work that might do some good, work to help with which there is never any help of any kind. Never so much as the courtesy of a self-addressed stamped envelope. No thought except of what you can't comprehend. Of how without income I get stamps, envelope and paper or of my uncompensated time. Especially now that my capabilities are reduced by illness. Nobody ever seems to think that I go into debt to do all these books to inform to the degree I can...I do not mean to seem to be impossible but I do wish those many of whom you are typical could see past the ends of noses. Can you begin to image how many letters like yours I get, on this and other aspects? What their toll in time and money I don't have is? The position in which they put me? No matter what I do it is wrong and nobody ever stops to think about it. I'm sorry if you are offended but I am by these kind of impositions about which I can do nothing and in response to which whatever I do is wrong. Sincerely, Harold Weisberg 2/15/76

Dear Mr. Huey:

My family has been aware of various theories concerning the death of President Kennedy, just as it has been aware of the many speculative accounts which have arisen from the death of Robert Kennedy.

I am sure that it is understood that the continual speculation is painful for members of my family. We have always accepted the findings of the Warren Commission Report and have no reason to question the quality and the effort of those who investigated the fatal shooting of Robert Kennedy.

Our feeling is that, if there is sufficient evidence to re-examine the circumstances concerning the deaths of President Kennedy and Robert Kennedy, this judgment would have to be made by the legal authorities responsible for such further examination. I do not believe that their judgment should be influenced by any feelings or discomfort by any member of my family.

Sincerely,

Edward M. Kennedy

Dear Senator:

It has been over twelve years since President Kennedy was murdered. After Dallas our country has been proceeding in a negative direction. We have been forced to endure Vietnam, the growth of racial prejudice, the assassinations of Dr. King and your brother Robert, and the juggling of high government offices to the extent that we now have both a President and Vice-President who have not been elected by the people.

It is now 1976 and I find myself listening to a State of the Union Address by Gerald Ford. My lack of faith in the Warren Report causes me to ponder the irony of this man having served on the Warren Commission now serving as President.

Perhaps the Kennedy administration was not "Camelot", but it was far from the situation today which can best be described as "Chaos". How can the American people be expected to have faith in a government which has not had a national election not affected by bullets since 1960? Has 1984 occurred before its time?

I am asking you now to come forth and rid of us the lies we have been told explaining the deaths of three great leaders. Unless the truth is revealed to the people the lives of these men will have been given in vain. Human beings may be assassinated, but their hopes and dreams can not be destroyed. It is precisely the dreams of these men which must now be rekindled before it is too late.

I look to you for hope. Please respond.

Sincerely yours,

Glenn S. Huey
