Dear Mr. Hutchinson,

I appreciate your kind letter but I've never accumulated or saved those things. In part it is because I do not have that kind of ego and I suppose that it is in part because of a lack of space. In addition to my own work, which now is of some volume, I've a third of a million pages of once-withheld records I got through all those lawsuits. Takes up much space!

Probably the best source would be The Last Hurrah Bookshop, 849 West third St., Williamsport, PA 17701.

Andy Winiarczyk is also a fine person. He knows the field and can tell you who is likely to have what he does not have.

Thanks for your good wishes. I'm not well but am still able to do some work daily. With luck I'll be 85 in three weeks.

Of the younger people, I am not aware of any who has eschewed all the longing to be Sherlock Holmes reincarnated and who is willing to do the considerable amount of work required to have a good grasp of the official evidence, which is the beginning of any effort to refute it.

The actuality, however, is how NEVER AGAIN begins.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr Weisberg,

It has been more than a year since I last wrote.
I hope you are still well and able to do even a small amount of work.
In some of your work you occasionally mention appearances on T.V., phone
- in radio shows and also presentations to students at colleges. I am particularly interested in what the American public thought and said following the assassination.
I thought that maybe tapes or transcripts of these events may have been kept by yourself and wonder, if this is so, if copies are available to purchase.
Also I am greatly impressed by your hard - hitting, to the point style of letter, as seen in your publications, to Humes, Hoover, Shaneyfelt et al.
Please let me know if I can buy copies of these letters and replies (though it would seem no one ever had the courage to reply from what I read) for my collection.

Finally, since I assume you are no longer writing, what are we to do in the event of another "Case Closed" or J.A.M.A - type distortion of American history?
Is there anyone you know who is watching, ready to respond in your style and with your knowledge?

Yours Sincerely
