Dear Harold,

The other day I heard the perfect description of G.W. Evica who, as you must know, wears a pony-tail. It seems two old women were talking outside a supermarket. One said, "I noticed you in the checkout lane and you lifted the pony-tail on the guy just ahead of you.." "Yeah," the other one said, "I could not help myself!" "Well," said the first one, "What did you see???" Answered the second, "Just what you'd expect!!!"

In my reading and research, I came across the original Occam's Razor first expressed by William of Ockham in the 1320s, "What can be done with fewer assumptions is done in vain with more."

I was pretty well certain I would not attend Lancer99 after watching those people patting each other on the back at Lancer98!! I will attend again, however, to do some research. Mary Ferrell and Greg James as well as others, told me Parkland had released more documents to the Sixth Floor Museum. I wrote to Gary Mack and came up with a negative as far as my research is concerned. He could copy the material for 10¢ a page, but, what a waste since I do not need most of it. Since I can tell at a glance what I want and need, it will make more sense for me to view the "stuff" at the Museum.

My little Mexican friend, now 8 years old, wants me to come to Mexico City for her first communion July 31. So much tells one not to travel in Mexico alone, so I will not go although she is very insistent!!! My son works with a guy who lived there and he says stay away!! Even the State Department expects political trouble there this summer!! I can still send her a present via the post office. I've done that before with no problems! I hate to disappoint her and miss her great day. And it could not be any worse than Korea where I have been. But, all-in-all, I don't like the stories I hear.

I do hope this note finds you and all doing better and holding your own in your own home!!! It is amazing how folks who are in good health attempt to destroy it!! What I have always observed is that when an oddball gets in trouble, he or she wants a straight person, an Establishment-type, to help them. In other words, a dopest on an overdose does not want a doctor on dope carrying for him or her!!!! Like the guy who quit preaching the overthrow of the government. He said where would he get his check if his idea succeeded!!! ~

Best of everything to you both,
Paul Haller
