

W.H. Brown notes n.d. 11/2+3/48

Corrupted account of history & of American political beliefs & preferences - i.e. FDR + JFK were "accidents" but not Jefferson, Lincoln, Jackson; we prefer & like the Robt Barons, i.e. Rockefeller, who leads like a P.R. man to the people of all

Romanticized account of JFK, end of his part of the beginning of his Presidency

In a book like this it is not enough for the essence of what is written to be true; it must also be relevant and appropriate. The author is poisoning the reader's mind against the American people and its backers used hypnosis to make a hero of the Kennedy of the period when, in fact, he ~~was~~ was a failure - for his campaign was a continuous and master how ever nature of uniqueness & would be later much later he was always young in foreign affairs & John Bry & the rest of the New World.

But what better to get of paper his m.s. on legal-sized paper, with pencil, drawn lines at the bottom to separate paragraphs.

"This reads like John Jay."
"Kennedy wanted to make politics one year the present φ31

Career in America". Notes.

For the "yobels" - reading yobels.

34

- His speeches were not
"strange" to Americans (FDR)

- "On the front in days of the west, a man who thought was a dead man" - ??

35

"Washington - a slightly little town under Truman, Ch. of a provincial governor in Louisiana - Thomas' time, it became under Kennedy the true capital of the nation.

- "First Presidents of the US always felt obliged to live simply and not lavishly" - like Harding, Cleveland?

- "The generals & senators' views on Vietnam Road" - not the right.

34 name or address for the JFK years "only the old magazines, celebration magazine at the land (sic) across"

"the, did not feel left out"

1) Spelling

2) This may be where they met most day with Congress or people, but it is hardly the place the real "magazines" but their name "what is it" for it is not one of the letter books. This little place became famous with Betty Boke. Here again, in distance the kitchen really does not know D.C.

- "Washington was totally transformed ... under the scrutiny of the old not in lists of the new Trenton, next as to the W. H.

learned not to spot "and to check their go's & spurs with the but he, no doubt: 35 "He had no need of a strong wife"

37 "The biggest mistake was in considering John Kennedy first as a husband, secondly as a Kennedy and never as President of the U.S."

It goes after her with a sharp knife even in length of portrait. It is neither necessary nor appropriate, serves no point other than to make JFK seem more the poor boy - suffering hero - part of a device to make of him what he wasn't.

He contrasts public, of whom some of his criticism is voiced if without prompt a place in such a book, with 'simple' Mammie E. whose reputation was that of a dumb - and resents her as another simple man when the job in D.C. here of his toes (perhaps honest moves) and affair with his Army secretary, I say personally. Just not know writing and not part of any association down, not even poor stage setting.

39

~~"The best"~~ "History will have more to say about how John Kennedy was wounded to impair his political career with "personal hardships" - false

"with his French & Jewish blood ... about as far removed from the prediction of American homophobia as Pat Nixon & Ethel Kennedy are from" (just like US women!) There was never any mention of the "Jewish" word in the US press,
- To single out "Thunderbolt" as a citation of JFK's presence life ("Kennedy Keeps Mistress") is to really scrape the barrel, & say that There was no substantial comment on his personal life. But best of the column was how aware to such skill & still gives it as meaningful typical writing - & that knows of the WSRP & is silent on its involvement in the story?

What paper places his his personal life in this book - the notion that the Secret Service supplied him with call girls "when he was really in a hurry"

44 The "highest intellectual level... would have liked to see more lost causes, more big defeats..." Revilo P. Oliver taken as intellectual sample!

45-6 By the course of this God-given of the moral, all-knowing JFK regarding whom all were aligned, The author cites as an example his moral code for the govt, without the ban on the acceptance of gifts, forgetting that in the previous chapter he reported the President's wife for just that Dept.

49 An endearing Adam Keller, he fails to note he was one of Felt's first two recipients (New Home X New JFK left him on a half year after Bay of Pigs, but was immediately thereafter filled of JFK with "a great new word into the main ranks of the 50

- administration... "
- 51 And JFK's "few miracles" was cancelling subscription to NY JT - the only one cited as an example
- 55 In the list of those who hated JFK (pseudonym) "The medical profession suppressed all others."
- 56 On "refers" quoting Manchester?!!
- 97 "Ever since its creation by Theodore Roosevelt, the FBI has been at war with those it calls "the forces of evil." (not the word)
- 1.4 "The Democratic Party is the only true national party" - notes of this writing is this true (see 232 also)

After reading part and scanning the rest of part one, upon having heard this book praised & discussed by its persons, I am unshakable of the opinion that it is destined to be our in many ways is unimpressive, but about things that, even in its clothes, are not relevant. This is a poisoning of the well of the reader's mind. After reading it & seeing part 3 I am convinced it is not a genuine work & is effortively and carefully designed for the purpose. They are not yet clear to me.

My impression is that it is for use to the United States, guided possibly to the solution of the Vietnam.

~~Part 2 to Part 2~~

137 - Today JFK expanded missiles as the refuse of missiles is not enough. Today Mussolini "facted down" is to confess ignorance.

144 "Kennedy, etc. ought to throw the world war by diplomacy," etc. Not as that date, though he pretended to.

144 Cuban missile crisis.

This brief section of part a of page is an ~~entire~~ misrepresentation of what happened & what the two leaders said and did. It, for example has no quotation from Khrushchev. It ~~does not~~ not tell the reader what happened or why, that the situation or its effect, what the problem was Khrushchev thought it in - why it was brought on & the alternative. It amounts to a rewriting of history, for in their book, the condition is such the documentary documentation is so summarized (which is not pertinent) that the author cannot be considered ignorant, uninformed or stupid.
After reading the chapter on business and businessmen I can make Khrushchev of the opinion ~~all~~ of his seemingly haphazard material, so extensive a part of the book, serves the purpose of padding and padding, is a mark for the paucity of information - even well-published conjectured information - on the assassination itself. All of this stuff in business is not related to the assassination

Oilmen - 186 It is doubtful that because "The USSR is feeling its way into the world petroleum market" that "This has led to a change in its Middle East policy." With no petroleum interests there its policy would have changed as it has, if only in reaction to US policies. (See 198, for example)

96 // Can "The CIA Newsletter" be total description of what happened in Iran in 1955, regarded as an ade quite a description in a book with so much stress & emphasis, so very much such great emphasis on it? It makes me wonder

Again in the introduction this chapter is left as an effort to establish a motive for the assassination. It is simply repeats what is well known, and by it seeks to establish in the reader's mind that the only only motive for the murder was the prevention of F.R.'s elimination of the 27.5 90 at replet in alliance.

With the knowledge that this book is of precise origin, the influence of not the fact being of official origin, there is this unmistakable possibility: that was written for ultimate purposes to do mischief, perhaps to suggest a U. S. reaction that would work toward them by strengthening the favorable competitive position of our companies, or at least to hurt them.

It is by now clear that the press has shifted to Hunt, & the next page bears this out. He despite his great wealth & influence, is the vulnerable one because he is hated by so many because of his personal extremist politics, and because he is a Republican. He is certainly the one who is used to pull down on the "blinds" - almost anyone but the reactionaries in strong reaction. If I am right, this is truly a bold and hot.

228 The "Times"

236 Hunt starts (It seems to me that should be false since, he would not likely live through it.)

240 The "myth of the indispensable man" created by "FKR" and reclaimed by Kennedy is "ridiculed" by Hunt. How can this relate to "the true JFK?"

By the end of this section, the Hunt-Hen focus is clear. It has been built by a prosecution case like method of hearing, whose thus far are irrelevant. Pretty much the same could be done with an enormous number of people and with, who do this point, would be with as much reason + logic
