Dear Paul,

If you have any info on Madeleine Brown who claims to have been LBJ's mistress, among other accomplishments (to her) I'll appreciate a copy of it.

Jim Tague was here last week. He is preparing to do a book manuscript on what happened to him. He told me that Mary was back in the hospital, I've forgotten for what other than a fall, and that Duck was home so probably someone was staying with him. I think she broke a hip. Which has been a concern here for some years. We have his and her canes, which we use, and prescribed his and her walkers, which we do not use. They put me on one last year at Johns Hopkins where I was sent after the second congestive heart failure. The locals did not expect me to survive but I did. As the pulmonary expert told me when I last saw him a month ago.

I'm still working but not at the same pace or intensity.

And I do listen to my body. Which now wants ever so much more sleep that it gets.

Hope you are all well and happy.

Best,

Harold
