Dear Jan,

In the remote event you find th common decency to use your phone,
do not bother.

Just return to me everything you have as soon as you can.

And im good condition, without any of it being tampered with in any way.

You were to have returned the disks to me a week ago today.

You did not even bother to tell me that you would not.

You then promised to return them as soon as the weather moderated.

You did not. You also again did not phone to tell me you would not.

I then phomed you two times, each time leaving a message on your machine.

Again, without hearing from you.

There is more but this is more than enough.

I expect you to get eveything to me promptly and I emphasize in the condition in which it should be.
