Dear Mr. Bounds,

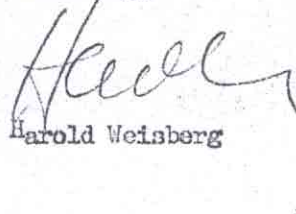

While my recollection of Jennifer Kathryn Cassel is now not clear, I am certain that if I ever had any reason to have any questions "as to her conduct and general moral character and standards" they would stick in my mind.

She is one of a number of Hood students who helped me part-time, mostly in filing records I obtained in FOIA litigation and in seeing to it that when these records become part of a university archive all will be properly identified.

My best present recollection is that she helped me for about two years.

It also is my recollection that she was industrious, intelligent and was either here when she was supposed to be or let me know in advance that something at school prevented it.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

There has been referred to me, as a member of the Character Committee of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, charged with the duty of investigating Applications for Admission to the Bar of Maryland, the Questionnaire of Jennifer Kathryn Cassel.

In this Questionnaire, it is stated that the applicant is at present or was formerly employed by you.

Will you kindly write me at the earliest practicable moment stating whether the applicant has been employed by you as represented, and if so, when and for how long, in what capacities, and what your experience has been as to her conduct and general moral character and standards.

Very truly yours,

Roland R. Bounds
