Professor Jerry McKnight
Hood College
Frederick, MD 21701

Dear Jerry:

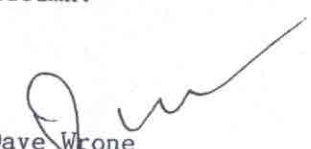

For some time I have thought it might be an excellent idea to put forth an academic conference with the full panoply of format and titles on the assassinations of JFK and MCLK. To my mind Hood College offers the best site for it for a number of reasons, viz.: you, Hood, Harold, Washington, center of the critics.

So I have on the accompanying trial draft of a conference put forward my thoughts on how it could possibly go on. I am truly flexible on this. For example I am not certain my own paper should have the title it does; the focus is narrowly the murders without larger insights and speculations on the nature of American society. The chairs and commentators can be fleshed out too. With the aid of several sources a good literature and exhibit section can be put on complete with illustrations. Perhaps a major speech or a luncheon should be scheduled.

The whole thrust is to place the subject within the framework of the conventional academia tradition. It should enhance the forthcoming Weisberg Collection at Hood.

After you have had some time to reflect upon it perhaps we could talk or write on the issue. I think we should plan for the autumn?

Adios,

Dave Wrone
