

Dear Jim,

6/9/87

We discussed the CIA's CTIA record you sent with the few things related to your "die request by phone. I then did not remember to tell you that the head of the Criminal Division in those things, J.M. McInerney, was a friend. His name also figures in some snide FBI internal records because as a law student in a mock trial of Oswald he was of the Oswald defense.

When I met him Jim was SAC of the FBI detachment in the Harlan conspiracy case. We got to be friends when we first met, at Lexington, before the official party moved first to Harlan and then to the seat of the court, London, Ky.

At one of the depositions, I now do not remember how it started, I was chatting with Slick about some of these SAs. I don't recall if we talked about Jim. I recall only one we mentioned, one Del ~~Yee~~ Bryce.

Jim went from FBISA to DJ lawyer, then head of Lands and then of Criminal. I was with him just after he'd been offered Criminal, he asked my opinion, and I said it was safer in Lands, words to that effect.

When he left DJ he entered private practice and he then defended security cases.
Not the usual thing for one of his background. Fine guy. Killed in an auto accident.
Someone else's crazy driving.

Best,

Re: F86-1444 (Request for Information on William Bradford Huie

Dear Sirs:

I hereby appeal the deletions made in the document released by Mr. Strickland's letter to me of May 7, 1987. (in CIA file)

Mr. Strickland's letter informs me that the CIA invokes Exemptions 3 and 6 to protect the redacted materials. Neither his letter nor the released document indicates which exemption claim applies to which of the excisions made in the document. Additionally, there is no indication which Exemption 3 statute is being invoked. Presumably, it is 50 U.S.C. § 403(d)(3). If so, I request that you inform me which of the matters protected by this statute the CIA is trying to conceal; i.e., intelligence sources or intelligence methods.

If the CIA is invoking 40 U.S.C. § 403(d)(3), I would appreciate an explanation of the basis on which it contends that this statute applies to information gathered on the domestic activities of domestic organization.

You have apparently deleted classification markings on this document. Although you may cross out such markings, you may not entirely delete them. See Allen v. Central Intelligence Agency, 636 F.2d 1287 (D.C.Cir. 1980).

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Lesar:

This is in response to your December 11, 1986, Freedom of Information Act request, in which you sought copies of all documents concerning William Bradford Huie.

We have conducted a search of the central Criminal Division index of records and located eight documents within the scope of your request. We have reviewed these documents and will make them available in their entirety. Copies are enclosed.

Our search also disclosed one document (and attachments) which originated with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Pursuant to Department practice, we have referred this record to the FBI for processing and direct response to you.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. McInerney:

My apologies for a tardy reply to your letter of May 10th. I have been away on a lecture trip.

It seems incredible to me that the Department of Justice should not have known of the Weinberg-Nelson situation until December 1945. As soon as I have re-checked my sources on this matter I'll write you further about it. Meanwhile, I shall, of course, publish your statement.

I very much appreciate your efforts to establish the truth in matters such as these. I am at present preparing another article on the interesting situation around the radiation laboratory in 1940-43. If I can have your cooperation, I'll be very glad to submit it to you before it goes to press.

Dear Mr. Huie:

Your article appearing in the April 1951 issue of The American Mercury magazine entitled "Who Gave Russia the A-Bomb?" has been brought to my attention.

I observe from a reading of this article that severe criticism is made of the Department of Justice by you for refusing to authorize the arrest of Joseph Weinberg and Steve Nelson in 1943 in order to prevent the unlawful transmission of atomic energy information.

You may be interested in knowing that our files disclose that no information concerning the Weinberg-Nelson situation was furnished to the Department of Justice until December 4, 1945, a date well after the time when the activities described by you took place. Your article refers to "hastened appeals" made to the Department of Justice in 1943 to act in this matter. Obviously, from the above, nothing could be farther from the truth.

Moreover, you must be aware that the secrecy of the project and the lack of admissible evidence would necessarily have prevented the discussion of this matter in terms of prosecution until 1945, when the existence of the atomic bomb became public knowledge.

The readers of your magazine have been grossly misled through the inaccurate statements made by you into believing that this Department was derelict in discharging its responsibilities and I, as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division, personally feel that appropriate steps should be taken to rectify situations of this type.

As a newspaperman and journalist I am certain you are well aware that the truthful and accurate reporting of facts is paramount in the ethics of your profession. Compliance with those ethics

I would welcome any expression from you that would tend to support or justify the unfair criticism leveled by you at this Department in the article in question, and I would be particularly interested in any statement you may care to make concerning the origin of this false information.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

In the April 1951 edition of the American Mercury Magazine there appears an article beginning on page 413 entitled "Who Gave Russia the A-Bomb?" by William Bradford Huie. In this article Huie, in discussing the espionage activities of Joseph Weinberg and Steve Nelson, makes statements to the effect that the Department of Justice refused to authorize the arrest of these individuals when informed in 1943 that Weinberg had delivered a vital formula to Nelson, and likewise declined to act after being informed that agents of the FBI and the Counter-Intelligence Corps of the Army had witnessed Nelson passing the formula to Russian Vice-Consul Peter Ivanov. According to Huie's article, "the agents begged for permission" to stop these transfers but the State and Justice Departments refused to intervene.

Our files reflect that the Department of Justice did not receive information on the Weinberg-Nelson espionage operation until March 1946. I would appreciate it if you would confirm this fact from your own records. In addition, I would be interested in having the benefit of any information that may have come to your attention previously concerning William Bradford Huie.

Recently in connection with the captioned matter you suggested the possibility of subjecting William Bradford Huie to grand jury interrogation in connection with the statements made by him in the article in question.

It appears that the source of Huie's information was undoubtedly the report prepared and released by the House Committee on Un-American Activities on September 29, 1949, entitled "Report on Atomic Espionage."

Huie in this article makes statements condemning the Department of Justice for not acting to halt the Weinberg-Nelson espionage operations by authorizing their arrest in 1943. These statements by Huie are patently erroneous and misleading.

The Department's files clearly indicate that we first received information on the Weinberg-Nelson activity in March 1946 at the very earliest.

It is noted from the Huie article that the author plans to publish in subsequent instalments additional information concerning Soviet espionage and in September of this year plans to publish a full length book on the subject. It is suggested that any possible action against Huie be held in abeyance until such time as he publishes the full length book on the subject referred to above.
