Dear Ms. Stephenson,

The enclosed pages are for your file. They came in today's mail.

I have highlighted some passages that carry on what I gave you earlier.

I have marked one place with an "x" because it states that two Baltimore policemen were working on a private investigation while on "vacation."

From this I believe that some of what is reflected in the records I gave you earlier grew to where his publisher feared publishing it and that is what his fourth book he says he will publish himself will be - what the commercial publisher would not touch.

From his private publication I fear there will be no meaningful recourse.

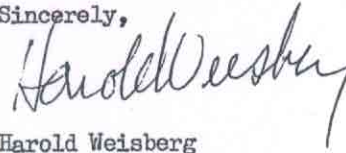

Because it is hearsay I have not sent you or kept where I can get it two reports on what the book says. That is, exclusive of what will not be in it, that "fourth" one. Two people who have read it, one of whom is a former FBI agent, have told two different people who have told me that it of the kind of stuff I gave you and that they were shocked to see it in a book. Particularly about me.

The former FBI agent whose name is Brown was published by Livingstone's publisher.

I do not recall the connection with that publisher the other person had or has.

By normal publishing standards the book should be in manufacture now or soon. That is the time spread, about three months, to permit reviews and distribution, etc.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
