June 12, 1968 Mr. - Marcel Soroguere LExpress 26 Avenue Kleber Paris, XVIoE, France/ Dear Mr. Soroguere: Mr. Stephen Jaffe called today requesting material for L'Express. I am happy to oblige. I telephoned Jim Garrison in New Orleans and he is forwarding tomorrow most of what you asked for. Enclosed are several items from this end: (1) A letter from Senator Eugene McCarthy dated January 22, 1968 to Mr. Steven J. Burton. I might point out that Mr. Burton serves also as an investigator for District Attorney Garrison in the Los Angeles area. (2) An unpublished mss. "In Cold Blood at Dealey Plaza" by myself. In place of this mss. Ramparts is running my "Strange Parallels in the King-President Kennedy Assassinations." However, it contains material on Deputy Sheriff Roger Craig and Miss Julia Ann Mercer. (3) Photocopy of an article in the San Francisco Chronicel concerning the King-Kennedy parallels. Mr. Garrison will send you some material on the federal intervention in his case against Mr. Clay Shaw, and, for that matter, his entire investigation. Let me interject a couple of points. His staff operates on the presumption that their office telephones are tapped, as there have been many indications of this. Also, the mail seems to be under scrutiny. I have personally sent several pieces of mail to the office which never arrived. It is quite unusual that the UlS. mail service completely loses mail. On the day after Clay Sahw was arrested (March 1, 1967) U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark announced in Washington that the FBI had investigated Mr. Shaw following the Kennedy assassination in 1963 and "cleared" him. This was front page news. In June, 1967, the Department of Justice was forced to admit that the FBI had never investigated Mr. Shaw. This was back page news --- if newspapers carried it at all. In other words, the federal government publicly defended Shaw on false grounds.

Last fall, at a speech before a law forum at the University of 'irginia, Clark said that Garrison had "taken a personally fine man, Clay Shaw, and ruined him for personal aggrandizement." Clark said that he might be forced to prosecute Garrison. The amazing part of this is that Clark has no idea what Garrison's case consists of; as far as he knows, it might be airtight. And he should certainly know that the merits of charges are decided in court before a jury.

"Ithough Clark denied making the statement, a reporter who was there, Rey Berry of the Lynchburg, Virginia newspaper, wrote me that indeed that was exactly what Clark had said.

Mr. Garrison will undoubtedly give you the other sorry details of federal intervention.

Please call on me for any further assistance,

Yours very truly,
