Dear Mrs. Kron,

It is letters like yours that make what we are trying to do worthwhile and what it costs meaningful. I thank you for it.

There are, despite the difficulties and handicaps, many things concerned citizens can do. They can communicate with others and try and inform them, and it is not futile to write Congressmen and Senators. Many already have misgivings. This is a subject on which they will have to hear in great numbers before they will be able to dare say anything.

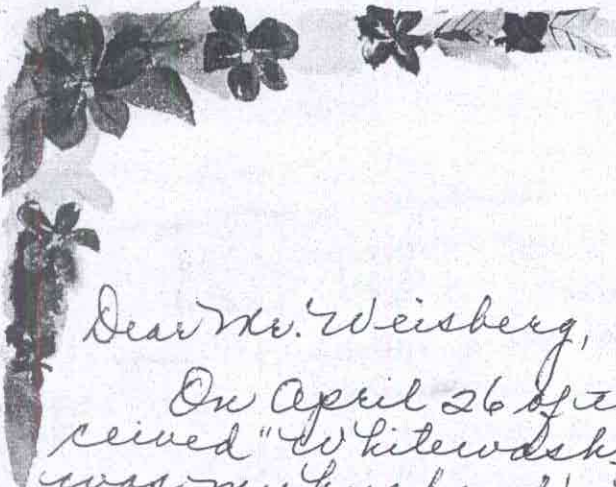

I do not know when I'll have WHITEWASH III completed. I am having to break it into several books, for it is already much too large for one. I have the first two written and have more than a single one will hold left and on which I am working.

It now looks probably that the first one out may be what I tentatively call PHOTOGRAPHIC WHITEWASH: SUPPRESSED KENNEDY ASSASSINATION PICTURES. I think it is a shocker.

Again, thank you for your encouragement and taking the time to write. We appreciate it.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

On April 26 of this year, I received "Whitewash II" which was my husband's birthday gift to me. I completed it last night. It was just as absorbing as "Whitewash".

Again I wish to commend you for writing it especially in view of all you've been through to let the public know that they have, indeed, been whitewashed.

Is there anything the average citizen of this country can do to show that they share your beliefs and perhaps cause another investigation of the assassination without the deceptions practiced in the first? Or is it too late for that?

After reading "Whitewash" and "Whitewash II" I feel there must be something done and wish I could do something, anything, to help.

My mother has, as a Mother's Day gift to me (at my request), ordered "Whitewash III" from a bookstore in Springfield, Mass. I await it with eager anticipation.

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) David D. Krom, Sr.

Dear Mrs. Krom:

Thank you for your kind letter which was forwarded by Dell.

I wish I had time for a longer reply.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

A few days ago, I bought and read your book "Whitewash". May I say I have seldom read a more exposing book? (And I read quite a lot.)

I heartily commend you for your courage in writing it and for seeing it finally published.

Congratulations also to Dell Publishers who had the integrity to publish it.

Perhaps, as you say in your preface to the book, it is the least desirable form of appearance for the book, but maybe not too! There are a great many people in this country who couldn't afford a hard bound covered book that can afford a paperback.

You have voiced many people's questions and brought them out in the open. I only hope something will be done about them; maybe we could still

Call this a free country, I wish your book were in every home in the country and some foreign ones too.

Regarding the book dedication, my forebears also fought in the Revolutionary war and several since for freedom. I should hate to think it in vain, that such an important thing as finding the true details of a presidential assassination should be impeded because of suppression of the true facts.

Again, commendations on an eye opening, conscience stirring book. If only there were more Gerald Weisbergs and Jim Garrison's!

Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) David D. Brown, Sr.
