

Dear Sir,

Please excuse the continued correspondence, I feared I acted recklessly.
(providing photocopy)

I am presently reading White Wash II and find it informative and very well written. Thanks!
David King

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

①

At about 2:30 PM July 7 I left a copy of Post Mortem with Annie, Attorney King's Secretary at his office Suite 308 at 735 Bishop St.

(The Dillingham Bldg.)

②

She informed me he was in court.

I spoke with him by telephone from Maui at 10:30 AM July 8. why I called him

③
was to explain, why I enclosed a photocopy of your letter to me, directing to Sibert and O'Neill
Report (pages 532-534)

On the phone I explained,

④
my intent was not to discredit his efforts (Attorney Kings) to provide the public with a forum for discussion, or draw Harold Wersberg and David
Lifton into a confrontation

⑤
(this would disturb me greatly) but to best inform Attorney King in your words, what I'd been informed.

I sincerely apologize

⑥

if by providing Attorney King a copy of the letter I indirectly cause rash action by David Lifton.

As I understand Sam King III's father and grand father to be honorable men, I trust his decisions in this matter.

⑦

However, to what degree David Lifton and he maintain a dialog I can only assume it is a continuing one.

With Respect, David King

Dear Mr. King,

Before you give the copy of Post Mortem to attorney King I suggest that you first read the Sibert-O'Neill report. It begins on p. 532.

The paragraph including the error on which Lifton jumped to invent a theory he knew was not possible is on 534.

Large as his book is, he did not reproduce this report in it.

That same paragraph tells you why:

The casket in which the corpse was was the casket in which it had been transported from Dallas.

and rather than being wrapped in a body-bag, it was wrapped in sheets.

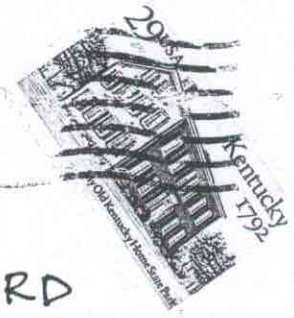

No single part of his theory is even tenable. He can make it attractive and excite people, especially when he can get people to remember what they did not see and did not happen. But there is solid proof that at each and every step it simply was not possible.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
