Wake Me When It's Over

ROLAND KREVITT spotted the Hippie Hitchhiker-of-the-Week on University in Berkeley yesterday. His sign read reassuringly: "No Cannibal — Denver" ... Headline-of-the-Week, culled by Howard L. Seemann in the Eureka Times-Standard: "Nixon Stands Pat on Subsidy Ceiling." Poor dear, with all that blood rushing to her head ... Superflash: Mayor John Reading had his tank filled by Carol Doda! I mean at the opening of Synanon's new service station at 27th and Grove-Shafter Freeway in Oakyoakylnd ... And yes, that WAS Jane Fonda at Alvin Duskin's dress manufactory at Third and Bryant. She hankers to do a documentary on the Black Panthers and wants Alvin, who backed the "Fidel" film, to produce it. Alvin didn't say yes or no since he would like Jane to keep dropping in for conferences ... Jumpin' Joe Dolan, KGO's hardest hitter, has quit his talkshow to take the State bar exams next month (he's a Harvard Law School grad), after which he hopes to spellbind local juries, preferably as a member of Charles Garry's garrylous crew.
