sat down in front of the desk, and Mr. Carter was sitting to my left. He explained to him, we wanted to talk to him. I took the notes and wrote them down, and then from my notes I dictated this, what we call an FD-302.

Mr. Stern. This is your memorandum and not Agent Carter's?

Mr. Fain. That is right. I was more familiar with the case. I took the notes and did the dictation.

Mr. Stern. And the dictation was when?

Mr. Stern. These dates appear where?

Mr. Fain. The date of dictation is shown on the lower right-hand corner; date of interview at the left, and date of transscription or typing was on July 6, upper right-hand corner.

Mr. Stern. What was Lee Harvey Oswald's demeanor in the course of this interview?

Mr. Fain. He was tense, kind of drawn up, and rigid. He is kind of a little, kind of wiry little fellow, kind of waspy.

Mr. Stern. Did he answer all of your questions?

Mr. Fain. No, he didn't. As indicated there in the fourth paragraph, he was a little bit, if you will pardon my saying so, a little insolent in his answers. He was the type of individual who apparently doesn't want to give out information about himself, and we asked him as to why he had made this trip to Russia, and he looked like it got under his skin, and I noticed he got white around the lips and kind of tensed up, and I understood
