

September 23, 1973

Dear Harold and Lil —

We want to thank you again for the wonderful hospitality you showed us — it was a special weekend for both of us. We enjoyed ourselves tremendously — because of the political and intellectual stimulation for Edward, because of our long talks, delicious meals, and relinquish of your property, but mostly because of getting to know two of the nicest people we've ever met.

And the weekend has had its after effects, in Edward's political knowledge, which only he can describe, and in my kitchen! Edward was so taken with the food you prepared, that he went out & bought me an electric frying pan — on the pages that with the same tools I'll develop the same good cooking. We also managed to find some apple butter — though it's not as tasty. Oh, and just remember other ideas you gave us. Like the garden lettuce, which they sell around the corner from us!

Thank you again - I hope we can repay your hospitality one day.

Sincerely yours,
James Edward

P.S.
The tomatoes were outta-sight!