Dear Harold -

This comes up so infrequently on the internet, just thought you might like to see what people are saying when your name comes up.

It has been overcast the last couple of mornings, then thunderstorms briefly overnight but violently. The regular thunderstorms have caused flash floods in south eastern Ohio and even closed some major roads here in central Ohio.

Right now, after an overcast morning, there are billowy white clouds, sunshine and a breeze. We're looking at 80's the next couple of days - a break from the sticky 90's last week.

Take care.

Sincerely,
Dave

He da man, as they say. Howard Roffman's book, "Presumed Guilty", neatly summarizes his heavy rendering of why Oswald was innocent. Kudos to Martin Shakleford for posting the URL that lets one download Roffman's book. Find it; do it; and copy it to your word processor and print it. Then read it.

Now, lets open a new thread. Lets call this by a tired name-"Challenge to CT"- and in this thread, lets see the common CT writers put Oswald in that window with the rifle.

See, what is not commonly understood is that Weisberg's proofs of Oswald's innocence (summarized by Roffman), are a problem for the usual CT that involves a crossfire. Everyone is quick to assume a shot from the GK because of the observable backward snap of the head seen in the Zfilm, but the problem is, to have a crossfire, you need an accomplice to the shot you think you see in the Zfilm. By definition, there is no such a thing as a single person crossfire.

So if Oswald was not back there with a gun- and he was not, as Weisberg and Roffman show-who was back there with a gun?

Here then is the new challenge to the CT that posts to this NG-lets have your reconstruction that succeeds in putting Oswald to the rear with the gun, in order to complete the crossfire.

We all know what the CT thinks about the GK assassin- but what we do not know is wher and who was his accomplice? That is the challenge. May we please have the definitive reconstruction that places Oswald to the rear with the rifle in a CT?

Obviously, those answers which accept the WC reconstruction must be; well-invalid. See Weisberg, Roffman, and the countless others who have here posted against the WCR.

That is the newness of the challenge-how does CT get Oswald to that window with the gun?

Ritchie
