Dear Harold:

Enclosed are a couple of things you might find of interest. I believe the year is correct on the article. The paper and the date are correct. In fact, I sent you a xerox copy of it at the time, but thought you may be able to use the original. I remember your commenting back to me on it.

The other was on the internet. Because it was originally from Bowers' son, I thought you might find it of some value.

I posted your answer to the previous internet postings with your name.

By the way, Posner's book about King has about 8 or 9 references to you, mostly in footnotes, and all of them are fairly cheap shots. Not one gives any credit or is sited for anything good in your book Frame Up. I can xerox and send copies of notations if you wish (though I know you could care less about his opinion).

I have to get ready to go to Ohio State to pick up the van for my history tour of SE Ohio with 8 adults through their Creative Activities Program. Takes all day - 7 to 7. I do about 3 tours a year for them throughout the state of Ohio. Have a good week.

Take care.

Sincerely,

Dave
