Dear Jin, Lame, Gregory and King

2/5/77

The January 17 Publishers Weekly helds what I've been waiting for, "rentice Hall's puffing of "Code Name 'Zerre': the Murder of Bartin Luther King Jr."

This is en page 59. My source could not restrain an expression of his indignation so if Dick or anyone else you know can get a copy I'd appreciate it. I'd like an extra for Les, please.

However pessible we will wont all the premes. There is enough in this beek for there to be many.

This says, claims what I've been waiting to be claimed and said by the publisher. I had it from others.

This is going to be a very inaccurate, very wrong book. "reat.

I'd known it but I wanted it to get fresen. This is one of the reasons I've not been wanting to rush on disclosures, especially not in public.

The announcement says P-H is "rushing teeard an April 4 pub date." By normal hardback standards this would mean it is in type new.

Hewever, I see me reason to help them with corrections.

Not until after it is bound, anyway.

I'd be including a copy of the mention only the Pacifica fellow who was here managed to gun up my copying machine when you and I were getting the affidavit executed Friday. I can't have a service call until immers day after temerrow at the earliest.

One line you'll like: "Our inquiry has raised serious doubts about the efficial version of the murder." Lame.

Pecket Beaks has contracted the papechack, to appear later.

Best.
