The FBI released yesterday recently uncovered photographs of two fugitives linked to a Cuban terrorist group and accused of murder in the 1976 bombing death of former Chilean diplomat Orlando Leteller.

The fugitives, Virgilio Pablo Paz
Romero and Jose Dionisio Suarez y
Esquivel, are among eight men indicted on murder charges in connection with the blast that ripped apart Letelier's car, killing him and an asso-clate, Ronnie Moffitt, on Embassy Row here.

The FBI also released a photograph of Paz' wife, Idania, 26, who is be-lieved to be traveling with her husband.

Release of the photographs was a clear indication federal agents have made no progress in tracking the alleged terrorists. The bureau said both Paz and Suarez, "who may be armed and in possession of explosives, should be considered dangerous."

The other five men charged with murder, and another suspect accused of a lesser charge, have been ldcated.

The Justice Department is awaiting a ruling from the Chilean Supreme Court on its request that three former officials of Chile's secret police force who allegedly ordered the bombing be extradited to the United States to face

Three members of the anti-Castro terrorist group already are in custody and are scheduled to stand trial Jan.
