

9/7/97

Dear Mr. Murgere,

Your letter of the 24th, postmarked the 25th, here today,

It confuse me in saying, "Bill me and include the amount necessary to insure NEVER AGAIN! because I did not publish it. I not only have no copies to sell, I can't even get them to give to those who have helped or can. I've asked six times, offered to pay for them and have no response.

It should be available through your local stores.

Why the descriptive subtitle was omitted I do not know but because without it the stores have no idea what the book is about many did not stock it. They can all get it through their normal sources.

I've been meaning to write you after hearing from your students but a few added health problems for both of us and the desire to write whenever I can caused me not to get around to it.

Dr. Gerald McKnight, history department at local Hood ^{College} ~~College~~ and also a dear friend ~~and~~ who teaches an assassinations course has put together from documents I gave him a manual for his class. The college does the duplicating, punches hole for a three-hole binder ^{and} and sells it to the students for I think $25.00. They love seeing original documents and they find it informative and educational.

If you think you'd like a copy, ask Jerry.

And of course you'd be free to duplicate it in all or in part for your students or to use them in any way you might like.

If you think you'd like to, may I suggest that you get your library to ask the Hood library for a copy? I think they perhaps may have a special rate for copying for other libraries. If that is not so you'll lose nothing except perhaps a day or two while it is being routed to Jerry.

Part of the manual is on the King assassination. It is included in his course.

My wife does keep a mailing list but I doubt very much that I'll ever be able to publish anything again. Neither of ^{us} can use stairs. We have, in fact, his and her canes! We keep a supply of both books and material ^{for} ~~for~~ packaging in the living room, the only way I can send them. Others, including Jerry, bring them up from our basement for us! That is how we make out.

I'm working on three books now. Hood will have all the manuscripts and all else we have and I'm sure after accessioning will make all available.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Thanks for your response dated July 15, 1995.

Enclosed you will find a self-addressed stamped envelope as you stipulated in your letter. Bill me and include the amount necessary to insure Never Again.

Sincerely yours,

Dennis Maugere
