

Dear Martha Meyer,

5/17/92

Thanks for your good wishes and your concern about my health. And for the SASB, too. I appreciate each little thing that saves me time.

The doctors think I'm holding my own. But the little time I have was further reduced last week by two trips to Baltimore and to Johns Hopkins Hospital there for checks and this week I spend a day and a half there for other tests. So, please appreciate that it must be brief.

I'd appreciate a copy of the AIU's book list. I hear they are selling my books for much more than I do. Nothing wrong with that because they can qualify as rare but except for the two we can provide in xeroxes only we have not raised the prices of the 1960s.

Penn Jones was a deeply concerned and very sincere man only he was paranoid and his articles were pretty wild, often factually quite wrong. So, if you read his stuff without considerable factual knowledge you'll get the wrong impression that is not so.

Much of what he started that isn't at all true is now fixed assassination mythology.

This is unfortunate because it is not what he intended and because people wind up misinformed and misled.

So, you do not bore me and I do try to reply to all inquiries but each letter takes that much time from work I'd rather do with the time I have left.

Best wishes,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

You stated in your last letter that you had received my correspondence on your 79th birthday. Happy birthday!! I do hope you enjoy good health and can look forward to many more birthdays. I think it is rather sad that we did not appreciate "time" when we were young. I do not regret being 60 - in fact, I refer to my wrinkles as "service stripes" - well earned. However, I wish I had taken more time to read (although I have always averaged a non-fiction book once every two weeks) and then maybe, somehow, I would have satisfied my need to "know everything".

I was intrigued by your background, in particular, your OSS and Nazi experience. My other love, historically, aside from JFK, is my interest in the personalities of those who were involved in the Third Reich. I have many biographical books in my collection and a prize picture of Field Marshal Rommel. I sure wish you could ship me your brain so I could experience all that you know.

As you probably have noticed - there are all kinds of books surfacing on the market about the assassination. I know what you told me about being selective but I bought them in reckless abandon mostly to have in my collection. The nice thing for you is that almost every book contains reference to your works. I did go to the library and found the reference guide to "Books in Print" and I have ordered two books I did not have - written by Belin. I am presently reading Livingstone's "High Treason II". (Oh yes, I have had Meagher's book since it was first published). I have also written several well-known collectible book stores in an effort to get Howard Roffman's book.

I have just received a list of books available at Larry Howard's Assassination Information Center (with your books predominately listed) and while I had the majority of them I did find five that I am ordering. What do you think of Penn Jones "The Continuing Inquiry"? I can get all of his bound copies from 8/22/76 to 7/22/81. Are these worth putting in my collection?

Well, I hope I am not boring you with my endless chatter but I do value your opinions very highly (even when I don't always follow your advice on which books to purchase). SMILE.

Again - if you feel you do not have the time to reply to this letter, I certainly will understand.

One more time - HAPPY BIRTHDAY.

In kind appreciation -

MARTHA Moyer
