Dear Gary,

Peggy Adler Robohm is doing a first-rate job of taking the oppression from Mary and putting the wretched Livingstone on the defensive. When after we spoke yesterday I told her what you'd told me <sup>(about a woman)</sup> she regarded it as important. She has done some legal research that indicates the possibility of both federal and state charges. This is what can make a dub of the Harrs' phone-answering machine tape both important and valuable in quieting the pest. The <sup>state</sup> law nixes threats here, where he and I both live.

I was not able to reach the detective conducting the Baltimore police investigation because it was Saturday. I'll be busy in the morning but Peggy will phone him first thing and convey the information to him.

The more I think about it the more I believe that any threat Harry made can be significant if only in showing that it is a pattern, his way of living and working, by threatening others. To the best of my knowledge, he has never had any reason <sup>except</sup> where he made no threat and persists in loyalty, to the cop who he knows double-crossed him and now seems certain to suffer for anything other than that.

I have a good memo on ASK that Wallace <sup>William</sup> wrote. If you know or can think of anything else, please let us know. Or send it if it exists in the form of any kind of record at all.

Because I'll be tied up with routine medical things until going on lunchtime I've given Peggy your phone numbers so she can, as we both think is important, suggest to Detective Joe Adams, in the police internal investigation, that he phone you.

Harrs did not phone me, if you reached him. If he prefers, Peggy's address is 45 Lawson Drive, <sup>Madison</sup> Madison, CT 06443.

We both believe that if the law does something about Harry it can get him the medical care he so obviously needs, with the <sup>peace</sup> peace and security of so many also requiring it.

That also might discourage publication of the evil he is up to when the publisher is well aware of the fact that he is crazy now and in what he is doing.

I think the only reason they have anything to do with him is that they are finding his atrocities profitable.

Thanks and best to all down there,

Isn't it both strange and good that with so many disagreements so many of us have we have always gotten along well. While there are a couple of exceptions, Harry is in a class by himself in his very bad behavior.
