Dear Gary,

Thanks for the excellent review of the Beverly Oliver fiction.

It is more effective because it is gentle, so easy on her and the literary whore who did her writing for her.

But I'm saure the Morning News would not publish such a review of the book that exposed the biggest of the sycophantic success, Case Closed.

No paper has.

The reaction I continue to get for Case Open reflects that there is a large market for books exposing the ythology, official and unofficial.

Yesterday I got three more letters thanking and praising me for it. Almost all say thanks, which is new. Not that thanks were not reflected earlier. Now almost all articulate it.

and I'my still getting several calls at least we every week. Sometime still two or three a day.

I've no idea what the sale has been. I asekd several weeks ago and have no response.

In the hundreds of letters I've gotten, only one negative, from that luftmensch Jinkloore. I caught him lying about his own book in it. I've not had any reaction from him to what I rote him.

In this I'm trying to indicate to you and for your people what is reflected in this reaction. Aside from the articulation of thanks, which is in almost every letter, also in almost all people tell me their age, that they had not been born or were quite young when JFK was assassination. The oldest I recall of the majority who say this is a man who said he was 12. I do hear from older people but the vast majority are young and make it a point to tell me how young. This mans they were not old enough for full appreciation of what happened. When it MapMed.

It also means that the revisionism is not working 100%. A boy who made it a point to tell me he was only 10 concluded his letter, "He left us something."

Thanks for the fine job and for sending me a copy.

Hope you have a good holiday and that we all have a better year ahead,

Laulo
