

Dec. 1

Dear Harold,

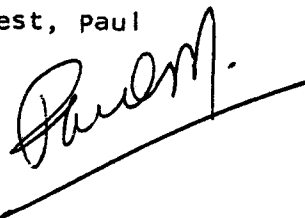

Thank you for your short note. I am glad you got my letter and the book. I am wondering why you have not taken an interest in the R.F.K. assassination? This is the one that really deserves serious consideration, too.

Once again, I emphasize the individual in the group in all of these atrocious assassinations. I hesitate to point a finger at an agency, per se. I do not know how one can hold an entire agency responsible for the activities of some of its members? In that event one would have to regard the agency as responsible in toto for events in Chile...?

I am hopeful that you are getting better and will return to your work. What is the relationship between foreign assassinations and domestic ones? I am really fascinated by this because it implicates a high level of involvement or complicity. I.e., certainly it is interesting to realize that "the power to assassinate" is neither confined to our own country or to any other in the Western world! A sobering thought for all of us.

Best, Paul
