The Letter Auction: JFK, Oswald, Ruby

The tragically linked names of John F. Kennedy, Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby figured prominently in a Manhattan autograph auction last night.

a total of $56,000 by Charles fred Jarrette, of "All Religions Hamilton Autographs, Inc. at Advocate," was sold for $250 to the Waldorf were two latter B. Deviced for $250 to the Waldorf were two letters by the President, one by his assassin, Oswald, to his mother from Russia, and sketches made by Oswald's killer, Ruby, while in the Dallas County Jail.

Other highlights were lettters by President Jefferson to a fellow signer of the Declaration her to sen some fashion magaof Independence and by Gen. zines for his wife, Marina, and George Washington during the which also said, "You needn't Revolution.

A Kennedy letter dated April 2, 1957, while he was a Senator, that if I want too, and I don't declaring "the most direct American influence against communism is . . . personal demonstration by Americans of adherence to democratic ideals," went to the Carnegie Book Shop here sketches made by Ruby went for $525.

A letter written by him on searcher for $625, Aug. 1 the same year about having "fought long and hard Gerry brought the highest price for a good civil rights bill" and of the evening, $4,500. In 1935, addressed to a Negro editor, Al- the same letter sold for $285.

York autograph dealer.

The badly misspelled Oswald letter was exhibit No. 183 in the Warren Commission hearings on the Kennedy assassination in which he acknowledged a birthday card from his mother, asked worry about my losing American citizenship. I can only do want too."

The letter, dated Oct. 22, 1959, was sold to Maury Bromsen, a Bronx dealer, for $1,200.

Five curious, geometric to a New York medical re-

Jefferson's letter to Elbridge