Dear John,

Thanks for the enlargement of the shirt-collar area. It is as effective as you thought it would be.

Do not make an extra print now if you ever do I'd appreciate another one.

I'm working away in odds and ends of time of the JAMA ploy. To now I've been able to write in a steno notebook a few minutes at a time.

Perhaps I'll have time to return to it for a while today when I'll be able to type.

I've highlighted the article, with a few annotations to remind when as soon I will I get into addressing it close to point-by-point.

If you do not have a copy of the article itself I can provide one. They are charging $6.00 for it!

I'm hoping to get the transcript of the press conference and a four-page release I'm told JAMA gave the press.

If I do I'll let you know.

This provides an excellent opportunity for the practise of what I refer to as intellectual judo save for one thing: I do not know anyone who might be interested.

I could do a pretty fast book if I could dictate and have that transcribed and edited.

It really could be illuminated, too! With this enlargement for one thing.

No problem with the Times confusion. I've not year from either.

Thanks and best wishes,

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Per our discussion of Friday morning I've inclosed an enlargement of the photograph of the upper portion of the front of JFK's shirt. Hope it will be of value to you.

I am sorry about the mixup regarding the article in the Washington Times.

Sincerely,
