Senator Charles McC. Mathias
U.S. Senate
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mac,

It has been some time since you wrote saying you would stop off sometime when you were in the neighborhood. You do not have to explain the demands on your time whenever you are anywhere in your constituency. I know enough of this, including from my own experience on the Hill.

During the time, however, a number of things have accumulated on which I should like your counsel. Whether or not this can include your help, neither of us can now know. I am not asking for it, assuming that if you can offer it, you will without my asking.

I will be in Washington again on Monday the 13th. I have a medical appointment that should enable me to get to the Hill about 11 a.m., even if there is a slight delay in it. I should be able to get there without any delay about 10:45, but I haven't been there in so long I am not aware of the parking problems. If you can see me at any time beginning at 11, I'd appreciate it. The several questions I will want to ask you about I should be able to cover in 10-15 minutes. There may be some you'd like to ask of me.

While there are a few minor things I'd like to do that day, I'll make no arrangements until I hear from you. As a matter of fact, none is urgent, so if I can't schedule that later, it will be no great cost.

It is also probable that I will have to make a trip to Washington next week, any time beginning Monday. I can also make it that day, and if I hear from you I can schedule the chief purpose of that trip, xeroxing, so there is no conflict.

Hope you are all well.

Best from us both,

Harold Weisberg
