Dear Dottie,

In addition to the always-pressing present (and I've not been able to get to the writing I should have been doing for a month) there were a number of my own pressing legal needs that came at one time. I've got half of that done, kept up with the daily intake, and hope, tonight, to be able to locate the picture you want. I will not forget it. If it is not enclosed, it is only because I didn't get to it.

Which reminds me, if you can, when you are at your camera shop, would you check for me and find what they have for filing this "inox-type stuff? I just keep it in the envelopes/bags in which the film is returned. The negatives are in flat plastic containers different in size from the prints, which should have considerable foresight. Had it not been carefully planned, they might have gotten it all one size, which would have simplified life too much for the customer.

I have not been to Washington, but I will not forget WAVA. Did they ever call you back? I will not be there now until next week.

It is important to me that you give me, as soon as possible, each of the submissions you made on POST MORTEM and, more important and immediate, COUP D'ETAT. John Starr should not have it and he had some ideas. He thinks he might be able to do something with it. He can not until he knows this.

The other copy, the only one I expected soon, has not yet come back and I've not heard from the guy who has it. He is due in DC this week. I did phone the guy who said he'd make me copies, and he has not been able to because he thinks the Xeroxing is too pale for his microfilm process. He will check with his foreman tomorrow and let me know. I do have need for copies I do not have, believe me, for there are other places I should have them.

In any event, you can see I have not forgotten.

If you have an extra copy of the Ray scrivening in LOOK, do not throw it away. I'll be quoting it extensively and can cut it up in the rough rather than retyping. Also, if anything appears in the Post or News that is not in the Times, which I now get daily (not Sunday), I'd appreciate those clippings.

Sincerely,
