

Dear Dennis,

5/8/95

Thanks for your 5/2 and the enclosures. I did have that in the Sunday Times and I look forward to reading the others as soon as I'm not working. I've kept ~~at~~ Mailer's Tales and have about 50,000 words on paper.

If you can retrieve any TV shows, Mailer was his usual wise-guy self on CNN ~~about~~ about 10 days ago and said what I'd like to be able to quote about evidence, if you can get that.

In terms of space the Globe appears to be # 1 in what I've seen.

Could you have NEVER AGAIN! That I do not have them is embarrassing. I've asked Bill to give you and Gerry copies of the index, which was forgotten. I think the farther you get into the book the more you may find for your students. Including a bit from Bill's wife, Betsy.

I've lost track of what I asked of whom on Waketh but Bill and Gerry do have copies of the diskette, as does Dave.

No, this time no gutting. Of which I'm glad!

Many thanks,

Saint Anselm

Dear Harold:

Got your letter today. I also have not heard from Beacon yet. I expect that they'll at least acknowledge receipt of my letter. We'll see.

Mailer's face is literally everywhere these days. And so, it seems, is Oswald's (and kin). I have enclosed what I've seen recently, including the original of today's Boston Globe piece. You may have already been sent the Sunday Times review and the June Oswald interview, but am enclosing them any in case you haven't seen them. I don't believe the content of the June Oswald interview has any significance, but it does say something about the New York Times! The Atlantic Monthly piece I "downloaded" from my America Online computer service which carries the texts of a number of periodicals. Unfortunately, it doesn't give us page numbers.

I returned home on Saturday after being away a couple days and had a message from our local Dalton Books that my copy of Never Again! had come in. I've read the first few chapters and like it very much. It seems, so far at least, that the publisher did not gut it like Case Open. I have two (possibly three) sections of Criminology next Fall and I hope I might be able to work it into the course. I believe the students would benefit greatly from reading it.

I haven't received anything from Gerry other than Hoax. I'm sure he's busy wrapping up the semester. When I get it, I'll pass along any suggestions I might have.

Take care.
