Dear Mr. Albers,

Your interesting letter of the 11th was delayed because you sent it to out old address.

I do hope the tape exists.

The same outfit has another Texas office. I think in Dallas.

This sounds much like a fake book that is going around.

I hope you will be alert to any other material on these people or this organization. No matter how insignificant it may appear to be.

From what I remember they are supposed to have a home office in Puerto Rico.

I think the name is "security" rather than "Securities."

What do you think of a business with an unlisted phone?

When you speak to Jim Carolla again please ask him how contact was made with him, by whom, etc. Include could it have been by a literary agent. Ask him also if it is not true that any "security" business has to be registered with the local police. The police might establish that there really is no such business or that there is, which I doubt with an unlisted phone.

If this turns out to be any kind of violation of local law and the authorities there are interested, maybe I can help because this does smack of something of which I have known for a while and it is fraudulent.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
