

Rt. 12 now. 8/19/75

Dear Jim,

Recent days have been more broken up than usual, today is no exception, so this response to your welcome letter of the 15 may be of that character. I'll try to get 'til to read and correct my typos.

A reporter friend from the National Enquirer is here. Has been for several days, with two immediate stories in mind and the possible ancillary rights to RM Post Mortem. (By the way, any opinion on WHITEWASH V: POST MORTEM (all the ambiguities and innuendos intended) as a new title? I'm adding still new and hot stuff right now.

He is sold. He wants to go back with enough to sell "one Pope. So, he's been working hard, very long hours, and is overdue now. He is working on the one copy I could get back and preparing lists of questions and of documents he wants to take back, with the pictures already selected.

Geoff has not been in touch except for some very decent letters about the missing copy. He did not tell me it had been found and I told him I'd not be making any more zeroes because I'm printing myself. There are many reasons for my running this risk now. You mention one: Webermania. It is possible from the sale of the earlier works thus far this year. We'd put that aside to be able to reprint those close to out of print. The added debt will not be too risky. If he is not in touch except for conversation until I have the add completed and the appendix made up and annotated I'll be just as satisfied. I want to rush this. Printing will take an added month during which my time situation will be better.

I can't begin to tell you all I have that deals with violence in our life. I'd researched a book from public source; Bomb Baby Bomb! several years ago, in an effort to make the left violence comprehensible and with what I'm sure would solve the bombing of the car in which Ray Brown wasn't killed. Two others were. (That reminds me, I used to work with a sophisticated red squad on the anti-red side. Those detectives never believed the FBI story and do have extensive contemporaneous files, if I can open them.) There is one separate case that can make a great book and a movie. I can tell anyone how to duplicate that work easily if we can't find the black write to whom I gave copies. He got fyled from his Eastern Airlines job as soon as he reported being with me. He was in p.r. and they killed an enormously expensive project he alone handled to can him. I do have current stuff in Chicago. I've written Geoff about this. It is all the secret Minuteman stuff. He can get it and xerox it with a call to me and me making a call to the friend who is holding it. It makes The Anarchist's Cookbook look like recipes for crepes. My source and that correspondence only need be confidential. Anyway, that also gets into an area where a historian friend wants some oral histories. I did much work in the 30s on this and have the printed parts and can refer to pix. (Lil deep-stud mine.)

The only contact I've had from Playboy may have been research but I thought it was libsey. All they did was ask me to send my books to you. No more. No reason even.

If Playboy listens to anyone, this project ought make a book. Friend coming in lane now.

Suing: if Jim were rich and free we could both get heavy from the ripoffs. As a practical matter there is nothing a man without means can do. On books like the Weberman my situation requires that I wait until they are remaindered. By the way, professor, titles can't be copyrighted. If I had t/s means I'd be going after 'ent-hpuse and O'Toole on the 8/75 issue and his book and they haven't yet returned the xerox after more than a year. We've asked, too. They tried to steal it and withhold it, both at the same time. Without the right to gut. Bud tipped them off and set up a situation we could not escape on this. I really had planned to make the offer to Playboy/Playboy Press and could probably find the notes I made when I discussed this with a friend who is an editor at antam and gave me the right names and phone nos.

Y Your ms.: I don't know what the judge thinks of me and when I have time I'm going to tell him what I think of him. But remember, Jim is a member of the bar and you want to be absolutely certain there is no problem for him and no possible error in recalling what was off the record or FBI re: protective order.

CBS has power. But I think maybe this time they'll not be able to pull it off. They've been in touch with Jim and me, probably Bud, too. Midgeley moved up on the 1967 videowhitewash and he's not about to confess whoredom. People working on this one were those who did that one. So I know. But please take no chances on Jim. He has to see that ms. (He's drafting the appeal now.)

I'm not at all certain that I am happy about Jimmy getting into the general prison population, much as he wanted it, and from the too many coincidences I get bad vibes. I haven't heard from him, and Jim and I haven't spoken in several days. I don't know if Jim has.

CBS again: the guy who is writing that part of the script is due here this week. He hasn't yet called to set it up. He was with Jim several hours. If they say Jimmy did it they'll probably do him more good than we can. I hope they try! Their researcher on this is a fine human being. Above that level I expect them to stay away from me as much as possible from a combination of inspirations ranging from embarrassment ~~injuries~~ from ripping off to fear from the propaganda they believe.

The remaking of Playboy is encouraging. I hope they can remake themselves so they can remake the mag. It will be successful if they do it as they can afford to and honestly.

Our best.

Dear Harold:

Sorry to be so long in writing--I don't know what happens to time. I seem either to fritter it away or worry it away. And then there has been the reading and writing. Still, I apologize for the long silence.

Now that all the people at Playboy have decided what they're doing, I'm sure Geoff Norman will be in touch with you. But let me run it down for you anyway. First and overall, they have been slightly revamping the whole magazine-- a big job which accounts for much of Geoff's unavailability this summer. They will now include more non-fiction, different artwork, etc. As part of that-- and the Bicentennial--they will be doing broad-stroke pieces on American life, of which violence is part. That's where I come in. I'll be doing a general survey, including assassination--certainly including King, JFK, RFK.

Since Playboy's research department has already contacted you, I know you're aware that Geoff and I very much want your advice and help with these aspects of this survey. (You and Jim should shortly be getting a check for your research help on the King piece, which is finished in draft form but not final form, because it isn't time for the final form yet--which also accounts for why I haven't showed it to you yet.) Particularly the Kennedy portions. We know you really have the stuff, unlike the CBS/ Wecht-Fensterwald-Gregory/ Kaiser folks--and we want to do this right. So, once again, Geoff will be in touch with you, or you call him, to work out time, money, and those things.

Not incidentally, have you seen the Third Press book by Canfield and Weberman on the JFK killing? Christ, it's all your stuff stolen! Again! Plus that crap about the tramp photos, plus your stuff on Garrison, plus the Groden film, plus lots of wild speculation, plus even your titles, like "Was Oswald an Agent?" and "Coup d'etat", which is the name of the whole bloody book. Can't you sue or something?

Aha! Before I forget. I was to tell you that the Xerox of Post Mortem which you gave Geoff he did send, as I told you, to the people at Playboy Press. He is now getting it back from them, or having it sent to you. In the meantime, you should, he says, make some copies for yourself (so you won't be without) and send him the bill for the duplicating.

I can't think of anything else, except I am glad Jimmy has been taken out of maximum security, and that I sure wish Bud had been amenable to the interview. CBS is going to say Jimmy did it, and we can sense Ford's administration's attitude. It looks to me like nobody with any audience is going to say the more favorable things about Jimmy's predicament. A shame.

Best to Lil and yourself. Don't work too hard. I'll be in touch.

Yours
