Dear Harold,

I hope I am as enterprising The Watergate reinvestor. Compared to Turner, Mark looks good.

Pullinhaus are becoming receptive to assassination material because to a younger group the subject is New and Vietnam/Watergate has given it a context. They want - or seem to want - wild, flaky stuff. They will get it, too.

I didn't dig very deeply into Romeo. It is a palpable and dull box. At least Nigel took better notes. Ha Ha!

As for Neil, a confused, naive person. I remarked to S.M. that the formulation
"was perhaps a CIA front."
"Probably", she replied, "but Neil couldn't tell the front from the back."
That the CIA would find Neil useful - - - - No doubt!

Cyril/Nostrum/Garrison etc. are quite alike. Kwassner appears to be a new "expert".

Take us no advantage of these!

Sincerely,
