Dear Mark,

Thanks for your letter of the 28th and the enclosures. Your letter to Jerry Rose of The Third Decade is really a fine one! Congratulations of handling something that difficult that well!

If you ever have any further interest in Carto many years ago he ~~had~~ published the book he expected to be the American Hein Knapf. It was by Francis Parker Yockey and I think that like Hitler when he wrote Hein Knapf Yockey was in jail, as I recall in San Francisco.

I think Carto was then based in California.

I should have a file on this somewhere.

You say what is ambiguous to me, "I have known about the Nagell book for a few months and am putting together some information for Carroll & Graf to review so that they are ready for the attacks."

Does this mean that C & G asked you to do that, that they anticipate attacks and want to be prepared to respond to them, which I think you'd not likely be interested in, or that you have begun those attacks?

Russell was in touch with me several times. I made clear I think his project is ridiculous but I also discussed what he wanted to talk to me about and gave him copies of what he asked for that I could find conveniently.

I remember that plane crash and Nagell's amazing survival. It was an Electra ^{that} ~~and~~ as I now recall disintegrated at about 10,000 feet up near Baltimore.

From the sleep apnea I dozed off while reading the copies of what Wallace Hiram wrote about JAMA and Crenshaw. The JAMA part remained together but the other loose sheets did not. I've not doped out how they go and I'll take no more time for that but what he did on JAMA, while not new to me, can serve as a check list.

I'm working on a book, not an article.

While it is not important and I never believed Nagell and did try years ago to talk the nuts out of crediting ~~to~~ him, if not too much trouble I'd like to read what you put together and to have it for archival purposes. as I now recall ^{his story} it began with Ramparts and then Garrison/ Lane went for it big. Lane and one of Garrison's lawyer interviewed Nagell in jail. I had no interest but if you are interested, Fensterwald ~~who~~ really went for it and Lesar should be able to provide all he had, including from Garrison.

Hope you get that part-time law-school job. and that all else is going well. and that you learn you passed the bars.

Thanks and our best,

Harold

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

I am in receipt of your letter of August 22, 1992.

I have enclosed copies of the materials that Wallace Milam wrote with respect to the JAMA article. I have not watched the entire video but I suspect it paraphrases the articles. Please do send me a copy of your piece when it is completed.

Thanks for the information on the new books. I have known about the Nagell book for a few months and I am putting together some information for Carroll & Graf to review so that they are ready for the attacks. Nagell was an outstanding Army officer until a 1954 plane crash, of which he was the only survivor, left him with brain damage. I have a 100 page slip opinion from the U.S. Court of Claims from 1982 (which I am sure few people know about since these are not published) that details all of Nagell's mental defects. He has absolutely no credibility whatsoever and his JFK story has little merit. Once I bring this up I am sure some people will say the CIA is just covering up and framed Nagell. It is stories such as this that really makes me think we will never get to the truth because there is always trash in the way.

At the moment I do not have access to LEXIS/NEXIS anymore since I have graduated. I hope to be hired by the law school to perform part-time research which would allow me to utilize NEXIS once again. However, I have performed a NEXIS search as recent as today and nothing further has been written regarding JAMA since I sent you the last batch of materials.

In closing, I have also enclosed a letter that is set to be published in the next issue of The Third Decade. I think you will find it meaningful.

My best wishes as always to yourself and Lil. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Mark S. Zaid, J.D.

RE: L.Fletcher Prouty & The Secret Team

Dear Editor:

It is with great displeasure that I find it is necessary to write this letter but the message within must reach as wide an audience as possible. It is a difficult task that befalls me for how am I to explain to my fellow researchers that they might be unwittingly financially supporting a virulent neo-nazi organization whose raison d'etre is to argue that the deliberate killing of six million Jews by the nazis in World War Two never occurred. How do I explain to all of your readers that a man highly respected by the research community is helping promote those ideals?

I can only conclude that the truth is my best course and the truth is that L. Fletcher Prouty, author of the acclaimed book The Secret Team, has aligned himself with an anti-semitic revisionist organization known as The Institute for Historical Review (IHR). It is the IHR that has recently republished Colonel Prouty's much sought after 1973 work on the CIA's control of world events. If you have purchased the latest edition of The Secret Team then you have, most likely unknowingly, enabled the IHR to continue its attempts to deface history and slander the memories of all those who died at the hands of the diabolical and twisted nazi regime.

IHR was formally established in the 1970s with help from Willis Carto's organization Liberty Lobby, a far-right anti-semitic propaganda clearing house duly noted as such by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Your readers more than likely recognize the name Liberty Lobby from the recent best seller, Plausible Denial. The author, Mark

Lane, a preeminent contributor among assassination experts, has defended the organization in various law suits, written articles for its newspaper "Spotlight", appeared on its radio broadcasts and served as an associate editor for one of its publications. However, the subject of Mr. Lane's involvement with nazis is a topic best left to another time.

IHR is primarily a revisionist organization. That is, its purpose is to propagate the theory that the Holocaust is but a myth or a hoax. As a publicity stunt IHR offered $50,000 to anyone who could prove that Jews were gassed at the nazi death camp Auschwitz. An Auschwitz survivor, who accepted their challenge, was refused the "prize money" and took them to court in 1985 and eventually received $90,000 in damages. In that case the Court took judicial notice that the Holocaust was in no way a myth but instead had been a frightening part of our reality.

Unfortunately, this has not slowed IHR's efforts to publicize their beliefs. Most recently their handiwork has generated national media attention with their attempts to place advertisements in college newspapers across the United States that argue the Holocaust was a creation of Jewish sympathizers. Principal among IHR's vast array of Holocaust-denying, pro-nazi and anti-Israel publications are such works as: Arthur Butz's, The Hoax of the Twentieth Century; William Grimstead's The Six Million Reconsidered; Wilhelm Staeglich's The Auschwitz Myth: A Judge Looks at the Evidence; and Deitleib Felderer's, Anne Frank's Diary--A Hoax. These are the authors and publications that Mr. Prouty has chosen to associate himself with in order to have the Secret Team reach your hands.

The Colonel's association was, in fact, nearly a serious problem for Oliver Stone as Mr. Prouty had been hired as an advisor for the film JFK. Prouty, as reported in Esquire Magazine's November 1991 edition, had been a featured speaker at Liberty Lobby's annual convention; contributed to its national radio program and newsletter and even went as far as serving as a member of its national policy advisory board. Of Liberty Lobby's founder, Willis Carto, who frequently expresses admiration for Hitler and espouses that Jews are "public enemy number one", the article quotes Prouty as stating that Carto is "a very sincere and well-educated man," and "I want to be for the things he's for."

Colonel Prouty pleaded ignorance when confronted with the history behind Liberty Lobby; an unusual statement considering Mr. Prouty's experience and knowledge of intelligence activities, information and resources throughout the world. Such history included the fact that one of his fellow board members had once been the leader of the Mississippi Klu

Klux Klan and that the organization had helped nominate David Duke for President in 1988. In the end Stone turned a blind cheek to Prouty's involvement, but nevertheless Mr. Prouty still allowed and obviously supported the decision to republish his work under the guise of IHR's press. This time, however, Mr. Prouty can not plead ignorance.

This letter is in no way a personal attack on Mr. Prouty nor, I assure you, am I involved in any government conspiracy to sequester the truth surrounding the assassination of our late President. I have met with L. Fletcher Prouty and I like the man. I respect the man for the work he has accomplished and his desire to seek the truth. But I can not condone the fact he allowed IHR to publish an important piece of assassination literature nor will I ever respect his decision or his involvement in their activities. The publication of The Secret Team by IHR legitimatizes their existence by allowing them to encroach upon legitimate controversial topics such as President Kennedy's assassination.

It is certainly your right to purchase this particular edition of Mr. Prouty's work just as it is the right of bookdealers to offer it for sale. In these times where assassination literature is highly sought after and the economy is so depressed, it is difficult to advise others on this dilemma. Yet is there not a time when principals must win over pennies? Is there not a time when a person must decide that malicious proponents of hatred and prejudice no longer belong in our society? I certainly do not believe that the type of society promoted by IHR is one John Fitzgerald Kennedy would have wished for us had he lived.

Mr. Prouty could have chosen to republish his work elsewhere particularly in this time when the market is so demanding of his work. Even self-publication has now been proven a realistic option when the subject is November 22, 1963. However, he chose not to. Thus, the choice of whether you wish to financially contribute to the IHR now falls upon you and you alone. You now know the story behind the publisher of The Secret Team. All I ask is for you to consider the words I have written above before you make that choice.

Sincerely,

Mark S. Zaid
