Dear Wallace,

Thanks for your call and for the copies, here today. His one letter to you, of 8/2/92, is remarkable for its unintended disclosure of basic subject-matter ignorance.

I'm glad to get the clear copies of those ^{several} ~~several~~ ^{letters} ~~letters~~ to Gary Shaw. His copier was on the fritz when he made copies for me. It did not copy parts and was in ^{general} ~~general~~ less than real clear.

Perhaps with my hearing impairment I thought I heard you say what you did not say, that Harry said that we four got $50,000 from the H.L.Hunt estate of company either one time or as I remember, monthly.

If there is anything like that I'd like to have it. The probable source for it would be Paul Rothermel, who Harry says is one of his sources.

And it is utterly false, of course.

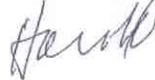

After I understood you to have said that I used odds and ends of time to review my Rothermel file. It is larger than I'd remembered and there is but a single reflection of his paying me for some xeroxing I had done at the Archives for him. The rest ⁺ was not even paid back for.

If anything like that is included ⁱⁿ in the book or used after it is out for promotions, Paul's and Harry's credibility will be a factor.

And Harry's doing any checking at all.

If you have anything on that ^{against} ~~that~~ Hunt ^{argument} ~~argument~~ to us I'd like very much to have that.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
