

Dear Bill,

10/4/96

This morning I returned the manuscript on the La Fontaine fiction to Dennis MacDonald, who had it typed up there in New Hampshire and the day since then has been full of interruptions. Including one that if on time will be in 16 minutes. That is the young woman who has been stalling on the retyping of the Mailer manuscript. She graduated, moved to Washington, and I told her to return it. In a year she has most of it yet to retype and all the corrections to make. But the package came through fine and the CB looks like it was just from the store. There is an immediate problem I'll try to get on in the morning if I can get things caught up enough. The coax is too short for the set that would have to be on the shelf. If the friend who made the shelf is here soon I'll see if he can make a different kind, one for this set, not for the set for which he made the existing shelf. If another section of a foot or so can be made of coax with the proper fittings at each end we can use the present shelf. Your sketch and instructions are fine and clear. Thanks for taking that extra time. If this does not make sense, the present set is mounted ^{under} beneath the plexiglas shelf. But the fine one you sent cannot be ^{before} we'd not ^{see} anything if it were. It had to be erect to be read, used. The present one was for mounting under a dashboard. Aside from Radio Shack, which is 10 minutes away, the people who put that aerial on the mast are in the mall ~~near~~ nearby. It may take a little time and a little doing but it should be fine and we appreciate it very much.

I skimmed the reviews that seem to be by ~~the~~ FAIR. Is that Fairness and Accuracy in Reporting? I note that Post Mortem is unknown to them.

If that is still a Jeff Cohen operation there is a past, a history. Good an idea as FAIR is.

Aside from catching up on the mail I've another manuscript being retyped, that one locally, and I've it to get to.

Would you like to borrow the book-length manuscript I did on Hosty's book? You and Charles are welcome to copy it if you'd like. I may have sent you the disk but I now have this printout of it.

Thanks for the Perdue cassette on him. I doubt they'd be interested in the other side now. Not after doing that!

Many thanks, Bill. We do appreciate this and we'll have it working before really bad weather set is in. It is 4 degrees above freezing early this a.m. and colder is predicted for tonight.

Best to you all,

Hardy
