

oday.
atlawed
ess, So
eased from Prison in 1969
s detention with application for a
was refused, he ask
an exit permit which enable him to leave
Africa but never return newspaper said rejection his application indicated a attitude toward oppon nts of government policies who wanted to leave South A rica. BULLETIN - 7/2/70

Swingin' Justice

Attorney General John N. Mitchell and his wife Martha hosted a swinging 100th birthday celebration for the usually staid Justice Department.

An estimated 2,500 employes — many of them reserved at first — began to loosen up in the unique party atmosphere as they took swigs of the 3,100 gallons of free draught beer and moved to the music of the rock group El Corals that bounced deafeningly off the stone walls of the courtyard of the block-long, block-wide Justice building in Washington.

There were several big birthday cakes honoring the department that was founded in 1870 under Attorney General Ebenezer A. Hoar, a native of Massachusetts.

T