

CONFIDENTIAL

4/24/70

To: James B. Edwards, Director
The National Archives
Washington, D.C. 20408

Dear Mr. Edwards,

I have raised a book, perhaps a dozen like the one you sent in regard our correspondence, in the hope you would complete the final portion of your letter. At the 16th page I end my notes and you complete it, as its friends in law and subsequent records show some suspicious hotel bills. In the future, regard as deceptive. Either of us could think them valid and

From this suggested paragraph, is it possible that you are in a spontaneous action in relation to other specific actions by the present Service, and no such bank may also be now the same, if so what?

The present Service sent me a copy of your letter, at my request. They forwarded these pages with a covering letter. It has been too long since I received the covering letter. In that case you did not. I would like a copy, please, sending no reasons (from my point of view) for its omission.

Although your letter does not so indicate, the pages you sent over do not all those the Sec of Service gave you to give me. I would appreciate the same pages, which have been released to me, A third and a half page not perhaps all of which were given to you to give to me. This would be all the information needed to satisfy whatever it is that is granted in the preceding letter from your personal.

You have not yet provided the print and negative of the picture depicting him that you took at the base of the 300 for Dr. Nichols. Here the fault is inordinate, which is saying something! Nor has there been the slightest response to the long letter, the remainder of considerable work on my part, on your suggestion, that you could regard as an appeal and forward through yourself. The intent of the law is that citizens asking information of their government receive it as soon as promptly. Especially in view of the fact that the request the letters is a matter of course that they be responded to speedily if you declined my suggestion it seems that there has been adequate time for response. May I please have it?

As I said the second, it appears that it would be an efficiency and economy if you were to mail as several dozen of the items required by your agency under the so-called "Freedom of Information" law and a few sets of instructions and explanations.

Very truly yours,

Karen M. Murphy