

June 6, 1996

Jane Norris
WHAS Radio 84
520 W. Chestnut
Louisville, KY 40202

Re: Topics for your show

Dear Jane:

I wrote you a few weeks ago about two items that interest me. Both have now burst into the national news.

The first is the issue of returning captive dolphins to the wild. Some of the dolphins have been kidnapped by Flipper's old trainer.

Lloyd Good Jr. at Sugarloaf Lodge would be the man you would want to talk to. Good is the leader of the responsible faction for releasing dolphins. I enclose an article from the New York Times.

The FBI and the Warren Commission never examined all the movies and photographs taken in Dealey Plaza at the time of President Kennedy's murder. Harold Weisberg wrote the book on this issue in 1967. I'm sure Weisberg would like to be a guest on your show. His phone number is (301) 473-8186.

One example of an important photo that was never properly investigated is in the back of the book I sent you, Whitewash II.

Jane, I hope you get a chance to do a story on both of these issues. I find them fascinating. Keep up the good work. I also enclose a picture of a billion dollar airplane. I heard you discussed Medicare this week. Perhaps a solution is less military spending.

Sincerely,

William L. Neichter

WLN/jcb
enc

↓
*Sent her copies of
cover of Photo W 4.*

June 4, 1996

Dear Harold:

I should be writing a brief, but instead I just speed read Waketh the Watchman? Do you want me to send a copy to Ginocchio or McDonald?

The main two mistakes I saw were, I think you misnamed James Starrs as Stubbs orsuch, and I think it is Steven Ambrose and not William. Otherwise, it had very few ~~gaffs~~ grammar problems. Also, Tailgate for Tailhook.

There is a TV show called the X files, where they chase UFO's and stuff for a secret division of the FBI. Reading Waketh I felt like I was in the X files. I did not realize that WWII the manuscript you sent was to Harrison Salisbury. Until his death, Salisbury wrote regularly for Penthouse. Probably their best known author.

I think you make some very strong points. I tend to agree with you, frankly. When the military lies to the President, you have a serious problem. I don't think you can overestimate the import of the military on the civilian economy. During the 1988 election, I think, Gen. Chuck Yeager made a commercial for George Bush that stated that a strong military was good for the US, and PROVIDED HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF GOOD JOBS. Rarely have I seen such a blatant appeal to keep building up the military as a jobs program.

I liked the recent children's rally in DC where they took a model of the B2 bomber and covered it with $1 bills. Should have used $100,000 bills.

With Cuba, SIOP 62, the missiles in Turkey, the U2 problems, Vietnam, the military certainly can be seen as one of the prime suspects. And the autopsy does not tend to remove them from the suspect list.

Admiral Boorda? Seems to me the real question is, isn't it scary to have a man who is so mentally unstable as one of the Joint Chiefs, with his finger on the nuclear button? As far as Bill Colby's death, I liked him, for a CIA guy. Forget Gerald Ford fired him for cooperating with Congress.

Well, now that you have fixed it so I can't sleep at night, I'll tell you one of my thoughts.

It is an old canard that you should not have German people on a jury, because they always agree with the prosecution. I won't go into all the details, but that old canard is true!

June 5, 1996

Anniversary of Bobby Kennedy's death.

I liked the way you were able to use that article I sent you about the problems with the Navy Academy. Also the point about the money spent on military planes. Harold, you cannot believe the money spent on those planes. How much did it cost to send 2 B1 bombers to Louisville for an air show? $100,000? $250,000? A lot, I know that.

June 7, 1996

Alright, dammit, I agree with you. It probably was a coup d'etat. You happy now? All I ever wanted was to be a millionaire Caterpillar dealer. Now, I'm not a millionaire-I still have hopes!- and you have burdened me with knowledge that is probably the most terrifying thing one could know. The TRUTH! Ignorance is bliss. When I can't sleep at night, I shall blame you!

Gotta run. Our love to Lil.

