Dear Harold:

I got your letter today and I was shocked to see that I had not commented on your appearance on Jane Norris, since I have given you advice on everything else in life, whether asked for or not. Actually, I thought you did a good job, but did I not tell you that before in the letter with the Paul Hornung story?

Paul Hornung is from here, and he followed you. Said you were interesting. Then told a JFK story. I told you this in a letter soon after the -show. Did you get that? It was a funny story, about how Vince Lombardi called JFK and asked for Hornung to get out of the Army ~~for~~ for the Giants championship game.

I did have one odd thing happen to me. 24 hours after the NOrris show, at 9:57 am the next day, I was home and got a call. No one seemed to want to talk on the other end. But I could hear a song, "Long Cool Woman in a Red Dress", a hit for the Hollies about 20 years ago, playing in the background. Then, another song for a second, then it turned off. But the phone connection was still live. I hung up after about 5 minutes. Since you did not name me in the show, I may be paranoid, but it was strange. Didn't you get a call with the theme from Shane once?

I taped the Norris show.

That heater I sent you is a small one, but as big as you can put in a cig lighter without blowing fuses. It should give you some heat. Just use it as best you can. Have you ever had the radiator cleaned out and new antifreeze put in?

If I ever make a talk, I do intend to make available documents. I also want to get a copy of the Cincy paper that once had the Altgens picture controversy in it.

I discovered another newspaper article in an odd place. Bill Knell is a UFO guy and my brother went to one of his shows and bought some of his tapes. In the middle of one, he turns to discuss JFK, says that JFK had problems with the Navy over taking some of their satellite money and giving it to NASA for the space program. He displayed a Village Voice cover, from many years ago, with the headline "How Time-Life, the NY Times, and CBS killed the conspiracy theory of the JFK murder".. That would make a good graphic.

Well, off to lunch. I am sending McKnight some flowery Cat hats. They are so cool, I need to buy one from them for me! Hope you and Lil are feeling well.

Got a kick from Norris holding your feet to the fire! I intend to write her a letter. She has done a good job with her show. Nov. 22 got almost no coverage on morning shows and very little on evening news.

Thought it was interesting that Nixon wanted to break in to the Brookings Institute.

Stephen Ambrose spoke here, I missed it. But he gave an interview with the Courier. He said Nixon knew the difference between right and wrong, he just did not care!

I made two copies of the unedited Case Open. Need one?

P.S. I may submit story to
