12/12/96

Dear "ill,

I wasn't thinking clearly in this letter to Slater, who has been very holpful in several way. So, if you did not send it to him, will you, please? Thanks.

I enclose the beginning of what I'm writing. It gives you a slight idea of what I'll be saying. I've more roughed out in paper.

If you see any monthon of that business of all the admirals and generals and what they agreed to, under US leadership, I'd like to know. I know of no story on what Butler said. Even where he said it.

I've written for all they can let me have and I've the story the Post alone ran 'and may have put on its syndicate wire Juire) I also have their adds, two, Post and NY Times.

The retyping has slowed down such with finals here. The Prouty book is retyped and I've given that woman the corrections. Dennis will soon be traipsing.

Thanks and best,
