Dear Harold:

Hard to believe that hte year is half over. I am glad you are out of the nursing home, I hope Lil can come home soon.

I presume you saw the article in Skeptic magazine called CASE OPEN VS. CASE CLOSED. I sent a copy to McKnight a few weeks ago.

I have been busy and preoccupied. I am teaching a course in history at the Kentucky College of Business. Good students. Seem interested in both the King case and JFK.

Don Wilson, the former FBI agent that says he found business cards and such in James Earl Ray's car, called me recently. I had lost touch because he closed his business, and I did not have his home number. To make a long story short, he feels his phone is tapped, his tires have been slashed, the FBI has apparently told his local police dept. that he is a bad character, and his wife was followed by a Milwaukee FBI agent for three days, intimidation.

I think he wants to call you. If you are up to it, I will give him your number. He read the book I sent him, Frame Up.

Sorry I missed your call the other day. I have been keeping "summer hours", doing some work at home.

We are fine, breaking in a new dog. Our old German Shepherd Ruder, died this spring. We got hooked up with German Shepherd rescue, and found one next door in Shelby county. What does it say about my life that I get more satisfaction from getting a dog out of the pound than almost any other aspect of my life?

Love,
Bill
