

Afterthought 9/4/74

A major part of my time is spent trying to keep track of the workings of the Departments of Disinformation. There is reason to believe that an enormous percentage is merely the norm with nuts. But this does not indicate or persuade that all is. So, if it is not asking too much, I'd really appreciate - not for use in any other way - a copy of all your assassination stuff. And as much on spooking and Watergate as possible. In this way I can evaluate against my knowledge and then can be in a position to know whether it may be possible that there is an experienced hand or hands behind what is wrong and frequently counterproductive...The flashing of this kind of stuff to those who have influence and are not beyond turning on is effective. And the constant influx into major media desks destroys all credibility and defeats authentic news. Aside from money and ego serving, the Yazijians do nothing. Except harm. Aside from all this, I do abhor this imposition on the trust of young people who will be so disillusioned when they learn the truth. Those sharp enough to see all is inherently incredible are instantly turned off so these things trouble me. If you can't send me all in this field, thanks just the same.
