Dear Al,

Thanks for your letter. And the stamps.

Because the crime itself was never really investigated there are no real leads to be followed and one guess about the shots is about as good as another.

However, I do not believe there was a second back wound.

If you can send me a copy of your information on the finding of a bullet shell on the roof of a building near Dealey Plaza I'd appreciate it.

This is like what happened in the past. In that general area some years ago they found where a bullet impacted on a roof and several bullets. All was dismissed by the FBI on the ground it would not fit in Oswald's rifle.

I've read Crenshaw's book. It is mostly Gary Shaw's imaginings, presented as fact which too often it isn't.

The one thing new in the book is his statement that LBJ phoned him while Oswald was being worked on at Parkland and demanded a confession.

He did say that shots came from the front. The only thing new about that is that he said it. Other Dallas doctors already had.

Thanks and best wishes,

Dear Harold,

I have reached the following conclusion after studying the JFK assassination for nearly 29 years. There were five shots fired at the motorcade. Two from the grassy knoll, one went through the President's neck, and the other was the fatal head shot. Three shots were fired from behind the motorcade, not all necessarily from the TSBD. One hit JFK in the back and stayed there until it fell out at the hospital, one hit Connolly and one missed all together. About a month ago there was a empty bullet shell found on top of one of the buildings near Dea ly Plaza. It seemed it had been there for a very long period of time. It was found by accident. It is strange that nobody thought to look on top of the buildings shortly after the assassination, maybe they were scared that they might find something that might mess up there almighty case against the lone asasin. I just got through reading your POST MORTEM book again that I recently bought from you. You are to be admired for your courage and the way you stood up your beliefs all these years.

I am sending you a recent article that I thought you might be interested in. I would love to hear from you concerning this new development.

Yours Truly,

Al Newton
