Kalmbach Billed U.S. for Surve ore San Clemente Purchase

10/13/73 By Mary Russell

Washington Post Staff Writer President Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, charged to the government the cost of a pre-sale property survey and structural analysis he ordered of the President's San Clemente home. The bills, which came to $4,-404, were paid by the General Services Administration, a House subcommittee looking said. into government expenditures on the President's San Clemente, Calif., and Key Bis-cayne, Fla., homes was told yesterday.

The deputy commissioner of the General Services Administration, John F. Galuardi, said the GSA needed the survey to know where to build a wall around the property and the analysis to study the interior layout of the residence.

Subcommittee. Chairman Jack Brooks (D-Tex.) said the survey firm sent the bills to Kalmbach who then turned them over to the GSA. "It shows a lax way of picking up the tabs for other people,' Brooks said.

Brooks read a September. 1969, memo from former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlchman asking that the GSA maintain the house, swimming, pool and grounds of the San Clemente estate.

GSA denied the first two requests but continued the landcaping at $3,000 a month for six months.

Brooks charged the GSA only dropped the contract for maintaining the landscape after Sen. William Proxmire (D-) Sampson on an earlier state-Wis.) expressed interest in the ment that the government's government's expenditures in $2.4 million outlay at San Clea letter to presidential assist- mente actually detracted from ant William Timmons.

GSA Administrator Arthur F. Sampson denied that the Proxmire letter cause the in a second-story den were an dropping of the landscaping improvement, Sampson ac-contract. "I was negotiating knowledged they were with Kalmbach to drop it for months before that," Sampson

But other GSA officials said the contract was dropped on orders of Kalmbach three days after Proxmire wrote the letter.

James Stanton (D-Rep. Ohio) attempted to pin down the property's value.

1.80

Asked whether two large bulletproof windows installed knowledged they were.