Mr. Nixon's property has been judged by the Orange County assessor to have a full cash value of $1.3-million. Critics of this assessment point out that the President's spokesman has said he paid $1.5-million for it in 1969.

$1-Million Excess

They say also that Mr. Nixon has spent $123,514 on improvements, and that the Federal Government has spent $703,367 more, for a total investment of about $1-million more than the assessed total cash value.

Last week the Board of Equalization declined to follow the request of its chairman. William M. Bennett, to have its staff investigate the Nixon assessment. The other members said then that they expected that local officials would handle the criticisms.

Today John W. Lynch of Fresno, the board member elected from the district that includes Orange County, brought in a letter that was adopted at a meeting by the other three elected members. Houston Flournoy, state controller who is an ex-officio member, was s not present.
