

I'm too tired to be sure if you mean more than the obvious subtlety in your note saying that a month ago the headline Nixon at Camp David With Rebozo could have been used. However, I add this: that was one of the more beautiful days. GI takes the chopper when the weather is so bad he makes forced landings. Why, then, did they drive, which means an hour and a half, instead of the 20-30 minute fly in the comfortable chopper? The timing of the BB confab may be significant: right before this week's hearing and Nixon's fake reform scheme was announced. If these do not explain, then we have more to which to look forward.
