

"You must measure the Pier's sole ..."

Only the arrogant not conscious of his arrogance would presume to tell so directly a body what it "must" be.

A man conscious of his own place and of proprieties would have conveyed the same idea by saying
"should" or "I hope you will measure the Pier's sole."

Final prepared statement to ERO 7/24/73