Dairy Firm, Under Probe For Election Gifts, Is Sued

United Press International

terday filed a civil antitrust tribution. Consumer advocate suit against one of three ma-Ralph Nader has filed a suit jor dairy cooperatives already under investigation in connection with contributions of $427,000 to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Kansas City, charges Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., with attempting to monopolize and unreasonably restrain the sale of milk in a 10-state area.

The civil action asks that action was taken, no fine or other penalty is involved.

Mid-America, along with Associated Milk Producers, Inc. strain the ability of independ-(AMPI), and Dairymen, Inc., is ent producers to transport also under investigation by their milk to processors. the Senate Watergate commit-

Prosecution Force in connec-|eliminated competition in Mid-The Justice Department yes- tion with the campaign con- America's marketing area. charging the Nixon administration increased dairy price supports in 1971 in exchange for campaign gifts.

The suit against Mid-America is the third antitrust suit the Justice Department has filed since 1972 against major dairy cooperatives. AMPI and Dairymen were named in the two previous suits.

The complaint charges that Mid-America attempted to monopolize milk sales through the courts prohibit Mid-Amer- practices designed to elimiica from continuing these nate competition from inde-practices. Since no criminal pendent producers. It also pendent producers. It also charges that the cooperative entered into illegal agreements with milk haulers to re-

The Justice tee and the Watergate Special said these actions virtually

With headquarters Springfield, Mo., Mid-America has about 19,000 milk producer-members in Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Last year it marketed about; 7.5 billion pounds of milk with net sales of more than $532 million.

The suit says that Mid-America began entering into illegal contracts as early as 1968. These agreements' restricted the ability of Mid-America's members to withdraw from the cooperative and hire independent transporters and producers, the suit says.