Nixon Ready to Reform State Dept.

By Jack Anderson

ration to shake up the State place upside down.

The President has grumped privately that he got nothing but negative advice from the State Department regarding erbed. his round-the-world trip. The Foreign Service, apparently convinced that only career diplomats can solve international problems, resents the meddling of amateurs. The new Chinese-Russian clashes President, in the view of the broke out along the Sinkiang striped-pants crowd, is a rank border. amateur.

The career diplomats, for President against going to Romania. It would also be a misat these sensitive spots, they declared gravely, could upset Chinese mainland. delicate diplomacy.

As tactfully as possible, they suggest it would be better to let the professionals handle the past. matters. They pointed out that their negotiations could be reviewed carefully before any policy decisions were made, can talks in Warsaw. Two days be pressured into making an awkward decision on the spot.

The pirouette-and-protocol boys also opposed the frank United States. discussion of American aims in Asia that the President gave to send the American negotianewsmen in Guam. His State Department advisers wanted him to play his diplomatic cards close to his chest.

As it happened, the Presidoing what the State Departnot to do. He came back with have found it difficult to make threaten China.

progress against the bureaucratic blubber, which gives A vexed President Nixon, way to presidential pressure The Chinese attacked his mowho vowed before his inaugu- but invariably returns to its original form. President Ken-Department, is now more de- nedy once compared the expetermined than ever to turn the rience to grappling with a whale. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who tried sparring with the naval bureaucracy, said it was like boxing a feath- at the ambassadorial level.

U.S. and Red China

Communist China had just started to emerge from its diplomatic isolation when the

For the first time since the Red Guard convulsions, Peexample, stuffily advised the king began to send its ambassadors back to the capitals of the world. President Nixon detake, they warned, for him to cided even before he was visit Vietnam. His appearance sworn in to seek a normalization of relations with the

This is pure heresy, incidentally, to the China lobby, which has supported Nixon in

The Chinese made the first overture by calling for a renewal of the Chinese-Ameriwhereas the President might before the appointed date in February, Peking abruptly cancelled the meeting, with a propaganda blast at the

> The President had planned tors to the meeting with a friendly offer to relax the travel and trade ban against Red China.

Despite the rebuff, he dedent produced his best results cided last month to remove some travel restrictions anyment solemnly advised him how as a unilateral step toward relaxing Chinese-Amerithe conviction that the top lev- can tensions. He also asked els at the State Department the Romanians during his Buhave become fogbound down charest visit to pass the word at Foggy Bottom. He defi- to Peking that the United nitely intends to clear the air. States doesn't seek a Vietnam Note: Previous presidents settlement that would tives and sent a charge d'affaires to head the Chinese make it awkward to renew the threat. Chinese-American talks, since the Chinese have always insisted on holding these talks

Nevertheless, the President will continue his efforts to restore normal relations with the Chinese Reds. As the next fare. step, he will ease trade and travel restrictions some more.

If the Chinese should reciprocate, Nixon - the onetime darling of the China lobby would be willing to withdraw American objections to seating Red China in the United Nations.

Note: With the Russians the capability to retaliate. hammering on their back advantage in reducing tensions with the U.S. On June top-secret intelligence analysis the problem. had speculated on the possibil- © 1969, Bell-McClure Syndicate, Inc.

Again, all Nixon got for his ity that Moscow might stage gesture was another rebuff. his-and-run strikes at China's nuclear laboratories and armament centers in order to elimiembassy in Warsaw. This will nate China as a nuclear

Germ Warfare

The Defense Department is battling behind the scenes President Nixon's against move to curb the development of nerve gases and germ war-

The generals have submitted evidence to the National Security Council that Russia has a far greater stockpile of chemical and biological weapons than does the United States. The only way to prevent the use of these weapons, the generals argue, is to have

The National Security Coundoor, the Chinese may see an cil has asked the Defense Department, State Department and Arms Control Agency to 12, this column reported that a prepare a thorough study of